

We get mega-info on the latest and greatest riding gear sent to us by manufacturers. "Riding Essentials" gives us the opportunity to take a few pages to show you the goods and tell you what we think. Since this issue comes out right before Sturgis, we're featuring travel bags from various companies.

Seeing that many of you are preparing to roll on a long haul, you'd better be able to stow items well.

Here are a variety of travel bags from various companies to help suit your needs on long trips: perhaps on some overnights. Makes you want to pack up, jump on your bike, and run away for a while, huh?

DOWCO

Iron Rider Motorcycle Luggage System (MLS)

Contact: (800) 558-7755, or www.dowco-inc.com

This system of five bags allows each one to be used separately or combined with other pieces for unlimited storage options. Featured here are the overnight bag (MLS-OB, product No. 50126-00; MSRP: $69.95) and the main bag (MLS-MB, product No. 50125-00; MSRP: $109.95)—the largest bag from the Iron Rider MLS. They feature rigid construction that allows for stacking of other MLS bags, along with durable ABS construction to ensure bag shape.

- Removable plastic-molded handle and shoulder strap
- Side storage, pockets, compartments, and zippers
- Riveted stress points ensure durability
- Diamond-plate bottom design for a rugged look and protection
- Made from durable 1,680 polyester

Main Bag

- 23x11.5x11.5; 1.75 cubic feet

Overnight Bag

- 14x 9x10.5; 0.75 cubic feet
- Combine these two bags for 2.5 cubic feet of storage

